

The role of Imam Khomeini's Mysticism [Irfan] in Globalisation

Qavami, Parvin – 1387

Subject: Imam Khomeini, Islam, Mysticism, Globalisation

Publisher: Imam Khomeini and Islamic Republic research centre

The essence

Investigation of the inclusive relationship of globalisation with different aspects of life in particular with religion is of a great importance. This study with an eye on the cultural dimension of globalisation is up to investigate dealing and relationship of globalisation with religion especially with mystical – religious manner of Imam Khomeini. Religion as one of the most important sources of cultural identity maker by taking advantage of spirituality and wisdom that it's encapsulated in it can not only survive in the process of globalisation but it'll grow up and develop in the procedure as well. Imam Khomeini as a religious expert who claims for reforming the global society through a mystical interpretation of religion based on human's evolutionary nature calls on all for correcting themselves and the society and believe a social role for religion beside its individual and self – making function. Thus perhaps about the relationship of the mystical view of Imam and globalisation we can say that Imam Khomeini is fully cherishing belief in globalisation of Islam as a task but on the other hand regarding the terminally status of Islam as the last religion which brings a second world – Inclusiveness for it the globalisation of Islam can thus be taken as a historical process too.

---