Special Supplement

on the occasion of 31st Departure Anniversary of Imam Khomeini(s)

JUNE 2020

Millions remember Imam Khomeini across the globe

June 4 marks that sorrowful day in the history of the Islamic Republic of Iran on which the Father of the Islamic Revolution left the mortal world for his heavenly abode, leaving a grateful nation in grief.

This year marks the 31st anniversary of the demise of Imam Ruhullah Khomeini, the man who led one of the greatest revolutions of the 20th Century, a revolution which survived 40 years of punitive measures by the US-led West and permanently changed the political landscape of the Muslim world and redefined relations between the West and the Middle East in a way that no other event did in recent history. As a matter of fact, conscientious people and the seekers of truth and freedom all over the world were aggrieved on hearing of the news of the passing on of Imam Khomeini (may God bless his soul).

The reformer, who shaped the most popular anti-oppression uprising of the century and revived Islam on the social and political scenes, continues to rule the hearts of the faithful.

Imam understood the US-led West's political and economic systems far better than most Western educated Muslims ever did.

It was his total reliance on God that enabled him to surmount immense challenges in the struggle to establish the Islamic Republic of Iran. He was a leader who on the basis of religious teachings succeeded, in not just overthrowing a despotic regime, but also in reviving in society the genuine teachings of Islam in order to prevent deviation and innovation from creeping in.

Leader says Imam Khomeini shattered superpowers' aura of invincibility

In a televised address to the Iranian nation, Ayatollah Khamenei paid homage to the late revolutionary leader and recounted his legacy. Leader of Iran's Islamic Revolution Ayatollah Seyyed Ali Khamenei has commemorated the founder of the Islamic Republic Imam Khomeini on the 31st anniversary of his passing, saying the late leader shattered the presumed invincibility of superpowers.

Decades after his departure, Imam Khomeini "is still alive among us, and should remain alive among us."

The Leader recalled how Imam Khomeini also transformed the people's attitude towards the so-called superpowers and their presumed invincibility to the point that the then US rulers acknowledged that the Imam had "humiliated" them.

"At that time, no one assumed that anything could be done contrary to what the US willed. Imam Khomeini proved that superpowers are not invincible. We witnessed what happened to the Soviet Union. And today we are watching the US and see what is transpiring there," Ayatollah Khamenei said, adding Imam Khomeini taught the masses how these big powers can be overcome.

Commenting on the massive public protests that have swept the United States in recent days, the Leader said the "cold-blooded" murder of an African American by a white police officer in Minneapolis exemplified the US's overall "behavior and essence" that has manifested itself in Washington's atrocities throughout the Middle East and elsewhere in the world.

The Leader underlined the Imam's spirit of "seeking and encouraging change," calling him a "true leader."

From a young age, Imam Khomeini would advise in favor of "rising up in the path of God," Ayatollah Khamenei noted, and reminisced how the late leader would invoke "spiritual revolution" among people through his speeches.

Imam Khomeini thus managed to eventually bring about "change across the whole Iranian nation," and prompted the people to abandon the spirit of lethargy and capitulation in the face of oppression, the Leader stated.

Imam Khomeini also caused the nation to abandon its feelings of self-deprecation and consider itself entitled to self-esteem, and extended the nation's attitude towards religion beyond a simply personal matter, Ayatollah Khamenei remarked. The revolutionary leader kept up his efforts at inducing change even after the Islamic Revolution, the Leader remarked.

The revolutionary attitude is still alive today, said the Leader, citing the country's scientific and defensive achievements and noting that Iran has attained the "deterrent status" thanks to its defense power.

The Leader then underlined the importance of continued pursuance of change as a means of betterment, and proceeded to name some instances of desired change across the country's various affairs.

As one desired prospect in the field of economy, the Leader cited potential severance of dependence on oil revenues.

Across the social sphere, the Leader sternly warned against allowing the population's median age to rise.

The ceremony commemorating the anniversary of the passing away of Imam Khomeini - the great founder of the Islamic Revolution - which used to be held annually at his resting place with masses of people attending, was broadcasted live due to the Corona pandemic.

The following are some more excerpt of the statements his eminence made at this speech:

"Nations resemble an ocean. Creating a storm in an ocean is not something anyone could do. Imam Khomeini created a storm in the ocean of the Iranian nation, turning the Iranian nation that had abandoned self-determination into a determining, influential nation in the world."

"During the Pahlavi rule, the Iranian nation had a contemptuous outlook towards itself, not only before world powers but also before government officials. It didn't occur to people they could rise up against the Pahlavis and global powers. Imam Khomeini inspired this belief in people."

"The Iranian nation regarded a despotic government to be a natural matter. Imam Khomeini turned such a nation into a nation that determined their own type of government. People's demands progressed from trivial, limited requests to great, global demands."

Memoirs recounting last moments of Imam Khomeini's life

Imam Khomeini was keen to know about welfare of each individual

Despite all responsibilities, Imam Khomeini knew welfare of each individual and person and well-aware of what was happening around.

Dr. Shorabpour, a member of Imam Khomeini has recalled through a series of historic memoirs that Imam did not like us to stand for him out of respect while he was sitting.

Although Imam had to deal with numerous political problems on larger scale during those wartime, but he never ignored the personal problems of each individual's as well.

Once I had to take some days off for having a surgery, so Imam was amazed to find me at the work desk on the specific date. The medical expert concluded by saying that Imam never liked us to walk behind us in any conditions.

Several members of Imam Khomeini's medical team say that they were deeply impressed by ethical norms and moral excellence of the late founder of the Islamic Republic.

Addressing the Physicians, Nurses and Staff of the Heart Hospital and some common people, Imam Khomeini once said as following:

"In the name of God, the beneficent, the merciful

Thanks to the physicians, nurses and employees of the hospital. I, during the time that I was in the hospital and was a source of trouble to you all and now I am departing from your,gentleman, I thank you all and I pray for you all. I hope that we all during this time, and during these sensitive moments that our nation is passing through and conspiracies that are hatched against our nation and country, whole nation, all class of people should put hand in hand together and make the conspiracies ineffective.

I am very thankful all of you, the employees and the workers of the hospital and respected physicians who during this time showed their high love and care for me and like a son who nurses for his old father, nursed me. I am thankful. May God protect you all and protect all of nation."

Imam led a very simple life before and after becoming leader of the Islamic Republic as he used to opt to live in a very simply-built house following the victory of the Islamic Revolution in 1979. Imam Khomeini passed away in June 1989; however, 29 years after his death, his legacy of views and values in life are still being treasured in the region and across the world.

How did Imam behave doctors during final years of his life?

It has been recalled through a series of memoirs that Imam Khomeini used to deal with great patience and moral with members of his medical teams during last year years of his life

It has been narrated that Imam Khomeini, the late founder of the Islamic Republic used to behave with great moral excellence and ethical norms with members of his medical team, including doctors and nurses. A team of doctors had been appointed to observe Imam's health care after 1980s when his health conditions were not ideals.

The doctors say that sometimes they suddenly used to reach Imam and enter by just knocking his door while he was busy in reciting Quran or doing another important task.

"Imam just used to raise his head in order listen us carefully just after finishing the last Quranic verse as he was busy in recitation," they said. In those years, sometimes we had to check Imam's blood pressure with a remote medical device during nighttime. He never uttered an unpleasant expression if his nap was disturbed or he felt inconvenience during the process, they noted.

Doctors also stated that Imam did read or engage in doing in other thing while listening us or carrying out medical instructions.

Imam had great moral excellence and paid a special affection for each individual who was in the team.

Thus Imam delivered us moral lessons through his well-balanced conduct and behavior and his divine personality remains a role-model for us, they stressed.

Imam Khomeini showed great patience and moral excellence during sickness

One of members of Imam Khomeini's medical team has recalled through a series of memoirs that he was extraordinary kind and showed affection towards doctors and nurses.

Dr. Faridoon Noahi, who has written a series of memoirs titled "healer of the hearts" narrates as following:

During the last days of Imam Khomeini's, in addition to the regular members of the medical team, other physicians were also invited to Jamaran (a neighborhood of Tehran) to consult on the illness of the Imam.

They were all deeply impressed by Imam's ethical norms as he used to welcome them warmly and always thanked for their attention.

In a fun mode, once I asked my colleagues what can be done to attract more attention of Imam or his affection?

Imam had great moral excellence and paid a special affection for each individual who was in the team.

Addressing the Physicians, Nurses and Staff of the Heart Hospital and some common people, Imam Khomeini once said as following:

"In the name of God, the beneficent, the merciful

Rouhullah Khomeini never stopped praying until last breath

The historic photos at hospital show that Imam Khomeini, the late founder of the Islamic Republic had great devotion for praying and reciting Quran and supplication

Imam Khomeini even continued performing final daily prayers and recitation of Quran and supplications on death bed. He passed away in June 1989.

Mourning processions are being held elsewhere across Iran, with the participants renewing their allegiance to the ideals of the Islamic Revolution.

Born in 1902, Seyyed Rouhollah Mousavi Khomeini grew to become the iconic leader of the Iranian nation's struggle in the 1970s against the centuries-old monarchical tyranny.

Imam Khomeini spearheaded a popular protest against the policies of the tyrannical Pahlavi regime, which was a key ally of the US. He was arrested and imprisoned in 1963 at a time of mounting protests. Upon release, he made a historic speech in the holy city of Qom, where he lambasted the "capitulation law" granting immunity to Americans on the Iranian soil.

In the pre-Revolution era, Imam Khomeini spent more than 15 years in exile for his stiff opposition to the last monarch, Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, who the Imam believed was a lackey of the Western imperialist powers.

While in exile, Imam Khomeini continued to guide the uprising against the Pahlavi regime, which culminated in the victory of the Islamic Revolution on February 11, 1979.

In the April of the same year, Iranians took part in a national referendum for the country to become an Islamic Republic.

Imam Khomeini passed away on June 3, 1989 at the age of 87.

Imam Khomeini remains the most influential figure of 20th century

Remarks on Imam Khomeini by political, cultural and social leaders of global repute

Imam Khomeini, who himself was a distinguished Islamic scholar, proved through establishment of a democratic Islamic system that Islam can fulfill both the material and spiritual demands of the human beings.

The Islamic revolution under wise leadership of Imam Khomeini emerged at a time when supporters of the communism ruling over the eastern world in the 20th century considered religion as opium for the society and the countries of the western world considered religion as a failed entity in running the political and national affairs, while there was no stable Islamic system in vogue anywhere in the Muslim world and most of the countries were under the domination of the western powers or the Soviet Union.

Imam Khomeini, who himself was a distinguished Islamic scholar, proved through establishment of a democratic Islamic system that Islam can fulfill both the material and spiritual demands of the human beings and a government based on religion can run the national affairs and deal with the social issues in a much better way than the other systems of government.

Remarks on Imam Khomeini by some of the great personalities and political, cultural and social leaders of global repute are given below:

Imam Khomeini as reviver of justice and righteousness

Imam Khomeini revived justice and divine values in contemporary history. He taught us that the parameters of preference or dignity for individual or societies should be measured through their association and reliance on God, the almighty. He described violation of such values as injustice to human dignity.

(KianiTaraeellyas, university professor and head of history department)

Great personality

Sacrifices rendered by Imam Khomeini and his influence will remain in history and the world people's mind forever. He led collapse of an old tyrannical regime and could manage to attract people by winning their hearts and minds.

(then President of the republic of Tatarstan)

Imam Khomeini, a great asset of Islamic Ummah

Imam Khomeini introduced to the Muslim world and especially the oppressed people dynamic Islamic and revolutionary ideals. Imam with great moral excellence and resistance confronted all conspiracies and plots by Islam's foes and the world arrogant powers. He called on the Muslims to get united and anti-Islamic powers were really scared by Imam's initiative. Imam Khomeini is considered as Muslims assets and his though would continue to guide for generations.

(ShakirInayat Ali Akbar, the head of Islamic unity movement from Pakistan)

Imam Khomeini movement closely associated with spirituality

Islam and spirituality presented by Imam Khomeini were cemented and consolidated in mind of the world people. We and our citizen fellows are suffering from lack of metaphysical and spiritual concepts. This vacuum can only be filled and resolved and this such a thirst could be quenched with teachings of Quran and leadership of a personality such as Imam Khomeini.

(General Hashmat, a contemporary poet from Turkey)

Great combatant and freedom seeker of the century

Imam Khomeini has been great combatant andthe current history's freedom-seekerwho could defeat the world's superpowers by reliance on faith.

He invited the head of former Soviet Union towards Islam and shook pillars of monarchies. People from Jammu and Kashmir share grief and sadness over passing of Imam.

(Asadullah, deputy secretary of Jammu and Kashmir Liberation front)

Successful leadership

The Muslims have been mentioned in holy book of Quran and "the best Umamah" and Imam Khomeini could practically implement this term in contemporary history and current century.

Imam had been a successful leader who accomplished all goals and objectives. He could found democracy in his country and promoted unity among Muslim Ummah and expanded the well wishing sentiments for Islam across the globe.

(MoulanaNour al-Islam, an advisor to minister for religious affairs in Bangladesh)

Great man and charismatic personality

Imam Khomeini had been a great man and possessed a charismatic personality. He really revived Islam in contemporary history across the globe. He was sole great figure who led a simple life in such a small house. We have witnessed his popularity not only in Indonesia but across all parts of the world.

In addition to that, Imam's devotees continue to consult and benefit from his dynamic though and precious works. I believe that his neo-dynamic ideals and initiatives need to introduce to the entire world.

(Indonesian head for cultural affairs in Iran)

Imam Khomeini revived and echoed Islam

Imam Khomeini snubbed all backward and imitative norms dominating religious institutions and revived genuine Islam by holding the holy book of Quran in his hand.

Imam blessed Islam new spirit by practically displaying that the divine religion is capable of running and managing a political system

Fiedel Castro of Cuba:

The Islamic revolution of Iran is an extraordinary event. Addressing the Imam Khomeini, he said: Your valour and sacrifice is astonishing. You gave us a lesson, you introduced Islamic ideology to other countries. You sent a message of revolution to the whole world. Iran with its religious and people's power has the ability to foil all conspiracies.

Michael Gorbachev:

The thoughts and existence of the Imam Khomeini was free from time and place barriers. He has left long-lasting impressions on the world history. Musavini, ex-president Uganda: Ayatollah Imam Khomeini was a great spiritual leader from whom not only Iran but the whole world took guidance.

Henry Kissinger, US ex-minister of state:

Ayatollah Khomeini, through a well thought-out plan, created crisis in the western world. He made plans with such a lightning speed that political analysts and leaders had no time to make counter-plans. Nobody could foresee the Imam Khomeini's decisions. His words and deeds differed from the standards prevailing in the world. He got inspiration from somewhere else.

Bishop Capuchin, the arch-bishop of Baitul Maqdas:

Hearts of all freedom-loving and poor and deprived segments of societies in the world beat in sync with that of the Imam Khomeini. The Imam belongs not only to Iran but all deprived nations across the world, who, be they Muslims or non-Muslims, look at him as their saviour.

Ex-mufti of the Al-Zahra University, Egypt:

The Imam Khomeini is a true Muslim. He is our Muslim brother. Despite belonging to different sects and schools of thought, Muslims are one another's brothers in religion and are moving forward shoulder to shoulder along with the Imam Khomeini under the umbrella of Islam.

Mohammad Al-Asi, Ex-Imam of the Central Mosque in Washigton:

The Imam Khomeini shook the East and the West. His movement is still alive.

Mohammad Hasnain Haikal, a renowned Egyptian scholar and writer:

As if one the greatly experienced personalities of the initial days of Islam has returned (in the form of Imam Khomeini) to the earth to lead the Ali's army after the martyrdom of the Ahl-e-Bait at the hands of the Umayyads.

Professor Hameed Moulana, chief of a research center in the US:

The Imam Khomeini had such a personality that he instantly made the people his followers through his words. He used simple popular words while talking and paid respect to his poor and impoverished supporters. Self-confidence was his power through which he removed all the barriers coming in his way. He proved to the masses that we can fearlessly stand against a superpower like America.

Rosey Garoudi, a French thinker:

The Islamic revolution of Iran has provided with a new model of evolution of man and society. It is such a model that totally conforms with spiritual demands of the nations and it is this characteristic that has turned the west hostile against this revolution. Ayatollah Khomeini gave meaning and objectivity to life of the Iranians.

Dr Mohammad Ali, a universtity teacher in the Mexican city of Jabola and editor of the magazine Mosalman:

Imam Khomeini proved to the world that superpowers connot be the master of the world and their best alternative is available in the world, which is Islam. Today, attention of the world public opinion and international politics is focused on Islam.

Velentine Promakov, a renowned Russian Scholar:

Ayatollah Khomeini totally changed the meaning of the natural followings in the society. Breaking the barriers of fear and intimidation, he directed the people towards the fountains of pure and clean water of the nature. He revived the religious views about the nature and through enlightening out heart with faith, laid down the biggest epical story of sacrifice and devotion. Through raising slogans of ' neither East nor West' he made the path smooth for stability and sovereignty of Islamic governments opposite the superpowers.

Professor Lancer, an Austrian scholar:

Imam Khomeini opened a new chapter for getting closer to God and took the Islamic revolution which happens to be an important event of the 20th century to the victor's rostrum with support from the public.

Anthono Madrano, a Spanish writer:

People across the world will remain impressed by the spiritual revolution of Imam Khomeini forever.

Keleem Siddiqui, ex-speaker Muslim parliament, Britain:

Imam Khomeini was the main spirit behind the Islamic struggle against the political, economic and cultural hegemony of the west.

Oryana Falasi, a renowned Italian woman journalist:

In my very first meeting with Imam Khomeini I had become deeply impressed by the greatness of his personality. I was overwhelmed by his good qualities including patience and forbearance. God's blessings upon him were visible.

William Beemann, a professor at Brown University USA:

Through his religious ideology which is termed outdated by the west, Imam Khomeini shook the world.

Robert Kliston, a renowned Canadian scholar:

As a citizen of the west and a non-Muslim, I understand that emergence of an ideological and theological revolution like the revolution of Iran in today's world is not less than a miracle, which is striding on the path of administration of justice. Doubtlessly, this revolution is enjoying God's support.

Imam Khomeini was full of faith: Archbishop

Sebuh Sarkisian, the archbishop of the Armenian Diocese of Tehran says Imam Khomeini was full of faith in God and this faith led to overthrowing of the imperial regime.

He made the remarks at the ritual ceremony in Saint Sarkis Cathedral on Sunday.

Offering condolence over death anniversary of founder of Islamic Revolution Imam Khomeini, Archbishop noted that in Imam Khomeini's beliefs, minorities enjoy the same rights and freedoms as the rest of individuals in country.

The Christian leader said that the stance of Imam Khomeini towards establishing friendship between Islamic constitution and religious minorities has been successful and he always highlighted the freedom of these minorities.

Followers of divine religions enjoy freedoms enshrined in the country's constitution, he highlighted.

Head of the Iraqi National Alliance Seyyed Ammar al-Hakim made the remarks in a statement released on the departure anniversary of the father of Islamic Revolution and Founder of the Islamic Republic, the Imam Khomeini.

Al-Hakim stressed that the character of the late Imam Khomeini left drastic impact on the spirit of the Muslim youth worldwide against tyrannical and arrogant powers.

He went onto say that the world oppressed nations will continue the path of the late Imam Khomeini.Late Imam Khomeini always concerned about other Islamic nations as well as Palestine, he said.Inspired by the preaching of the late Imam Khomeini, the world nations are now shaking the pillar of arrogant powers, al-Hakim concluded.
