

A comparative study between the Western politics Imam Khomeini leadership

Author: Abutalebi, Mehdee

Submitted to: Imam Khomeini and Islamic Revolution College

Year: 2005

Abstract:

In this research using the comparative examining method I have compared the bases, the concepts and the assumptions of the Western science relating to politics and the movement of Imam Khomeini (peace be upon him) and I have shown that from the aspect of the content and the basis they go against each other. Then I have shown that that going against each other from three aspects leads to the inefficiency of the Western science and that has to do with politics concerning the examination of the movement of Imam Khomeini (peace be upon him). The first aspect is this that that going against each other leads to a difference among the system of their truth As such when the Western science and that has to do with politics based on its system of the truth examines the details of that phenomenon lacks the necessary condition in order to understand that and attention is given to the treasury of that which has to do with the words and the dominant system of the truth and hence to understand that it will have a problem. The second aspect is this that because of that going against each other many of the existing concepts and the meanings do not fit in the system of what has to do with thought and the system of the meanings of moving of Imam Khomeini (peace be upon him) and they belong to the basis that are in the system of the modern dialogue and that is of a meaning kind and basically the Western science and that has to do with politics lacks the necessary means and the capacity in order to understand and to explain that. The third aspect is this that that going against each other that has to do with the basis and the content has led to the questioning and that has faced a challenge of many of the basis and the principles the modern dialogue and that deals with subjects. As such the Western Orientals should either accept that breaking of the foundation and that should let go of the principles that have to do with subjects or that should demolish and censor that move in order to get out of that dead end and that has always chosen the second route. Last I have shown the truths of that which is inefficient and that has to do with Nikki Keddie 's examination and that is a sample of the Western examinations.

Keywords: Imam Khomeini (peace be upon him), Niki R. Keddie, politics, the West, the Islamic revolution