Abstract

Although fault on a an adjudicator, whether intentional or not, is an unforgivable crime and unacceptable at any time, Imam Khomeini believed that ages gone has rendered its importance null and void, therefore it is of utmost importance to restore that kind of vision now that the revolution has succeeded and to expound upon it. During the early days of Islam, adjudicators were advised to protect citizen's rights, yet nowadays the judicial system of the Islamic republic of Iran must protect the principles of Iran and clergy as well, for any wrongdoing in judgement that results in the loss of life, property and reputation will turn people away from Islamic republic, depicting Islam in a bad light.
